President and Mrs. Cleveland Entertain the Cabinet at Dinner.

THE SOCIAL

THE BEGINNING OF THE SEASON

A Country Club Ball to Introduce young daughter inherits the charms of he Miss Davis.

OTHER ENTERTAINMENTS

President and Mrs. Cleveland have entertained at other cabinet dinners, but it is safe to say at none with as interesting a company as that which assembled last eight to break bread with them. The man-IF THE BABY IS CUTTING TEETH BE SURE and use that old and well-tried .emedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gun, allays all pain, cures wind colle and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. 25 cents a bottle. sion looked particularly well also. The floral decorations never seemed in better taste.In the east room the White House electrician prepared a novelty by having elecrubber plants grouped in each window. The fluted columns were twined with smilax garlands, and in this were a number of smaller lights under red, white and blue globes. The effect of these lights gleaming like stars in the plants which framed the central doorway was particularly effective and neuch admired. The decorations of the table spread in the state dining room were equally successful. The only flowers used were orchids. A long plat of maiden hair fern extended down the center sprayed with orchids, and there were wreaths and rings of orchigs and maiden hair across the end pieces. The tapers in the low silver candelabras burned under yellow shades, and the other appointments were in yellow or green. The boutonnieres were made of a single orchid, and there were aiso.corsage bouquets of the same for the ladies. The President and Mrs. Cleveland were in the east room to welcome their guests, and Col. John M. Wilson was present to make the introductions to them. The greetings exchanged between Senator Hill and his distinguished host and hostess were marked by a cordiality of feeling on both sides. Besides Mr. Hill there were present ex-Pestmaster General and Mrs. Don. M. Dickinson, who seemed entirely at home in this particular company made up of so many who were prominent when they belonged to the cabinet family, the President's physician and intimate friend, Dr. Bryant, and his wife, Representative Wilson, Representative and Mrs. Tracey of New York and his charming wife, Senator and Mrs. McPherson, who were hitherto as prominent in the White House circle as hey are now, and Mrs. Hearst, of whom everybody has a good word, and whom Washington is proud to welcome as a permanent residert. Senator Hill had the pleasure of taking Mrs. Hearst out to din> er. The guests at dinner included:The Secretary of State and Mrs. Gresham, the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Carlisle, the Sec retary of War and Mrs. Lamont, the Attor-rey General and Mrs. Olney, the Postmas-ter General and Mrs. Bissell, the Secretary of the Navy and Miss Herbert, the Secre tary of the Interior, the Secretary of Agri-culture and Miss Morton, the Speaker of the House and Mrs. Crisp, Mr. William L. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tracey, Gen. and Mrs. Schofield, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Bryant (New York), Mrs. Perrine, Senator and Mrs. McPherson, Senator Ransom, Senator Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander E. Senator Hill, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Roberts (Philadelphia), Mr. and Mrs. Don M. Dickinson, Mrs. Hearst, Mrs. Janin, Senator and Mrs. Manderson, Senator and Mrs. Bate, Mrs. John G. Milburn (Buffalo).

Mrs. William K. Carlisle and Mr. L. Clarke

The gowns worn nearly all saw the light for the first time. Mrs. Cleveland wore night flowered brocade in a large pattern. The bodice had great puffed elbow sleeves of yellow velvet, and velvet also trimmed low neck. Against the velvet her cor sage diamond ornaments showed to good advantage. Mrs. Gresham wore silver-gray satin. Mrs. Carlisle was in a Paris gown of mauve moire antique that had touches of cerise velvet on the corsage. Mrs. La-mont had on a very becoming dress of pink moire antique that had richly embroidered panels in which gilt was used with good effect. Mrs. Bissell looked especially well in light blue satin trimmed with bands of ermine. Miss Herbert was in blue moire with cerise velvet on the waist. Mrs. Olney Our entire stock of Fine Furs has been reduced for January only to induce you to buy at once and lessen our yearly task of stock taking—Fur Capes, Jackets, Muffs, Boas, Carriage Robes, Coachmen's Capes and Gloves. The same high qualities as of yore—but a good bit cheaper. was in black satin that opened in front to show a panel of blue velvet and the velvet formed the elbow puffed sleeves. Miss Morton was richly gowned in silver gray satin trimmed with Chantilly lace in panels. Mrs Schofield wore a shaded pink and gray moire antique spangled in gilt. Mrs. Tracey was in blue satin, with lovely lace on the passed a few days here with his parents, corsage. Mrs. Perrine was in lilac moire. Gen. and Mrs. Van Vleit. corsage. Mrs. Perrine was in lilae moire and a deeper shade of velvet. Mrs. Mc Pherson were a light tone of pink moire antique superbly trimmed with lace. Mrs. Dickinson was in blue satin, a very elegant gown. Mrs. Hearst wore white satin striped with bands of jet. Mrs. William K. Carlisle was in blue satin and brocade. Judge and Mrs. John Davis gave a ball last night at the Country Club, and it was just the brilliant affair that was fondly anticipated by society. It served a double purpose in giving them an opportunity to welcome many old friends and to present to them their debutante daughter, whose childhood was passed in this city, and who has returned, with great pleasure, after several years spent in Europe. Most of the guests made up parties and went out to he club in stages and herdics and had a jolly time of it all round. The club house was in gala dress. The porticoes were inclosed with scarlet draperies, the walls of the club parlors and ball room sprayed with wild smirax and the mantels and corners banked with poinsetta blooms and calla lilies. It was a fete of flowers. 'The debutante's bouquets were sent out n stacks, and made a great show. The music was fine, and dancing was an enjoyment, as the company was not too large, and there were partners in plenty. Davis, who has lost none of her fascination of manner, was resplendent in yellow satin and sable, with her fine diamonds and pearls. Miss Davis was in another Paris gown, rose pink silk, covered with platted chiffon spangled in gold, with crushed roses garniture. A ribbon girdle crossed in front under a cluster of roses; the low neck was the left shoulder-the whole dress as pretty as it seems possible to make one. Lucy Frelinghuysen was on for the ball. Among other guests were Sir Julian Pauncefote and family, Mrs. and Miss Sheridan, Capt., Mrs. and Miss Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Hinckley, Secretary and Miss Herbert, Lieut, and Mrs. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Lowndes, Mrs. and Miss Fuller, Senator and Mrs. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Howland, Mr. Kasson, Mr. and Mrs. Leiter, Wallack, Mrs. Scott Townsend, Mrs. and the Misses Brice, Miss Belknap, Miss Clews of New York, Miss Stout, Mr. and Mrs. Legare, Miss McPherson, Paymaster, Mrs. to which only ladies are invited. Mrs. and Miss Hay, Count Reventlow, Baron and Baroness Hergelmueller, Mr. Box-Ironsides, Mr. John Ford, Judge and Mrs. McCammon, Marquis Imperiali, Mavroyeni Bey and Mr. Algernon Sartoris. Mrs. Wythe Denby gave an afternoon reception yesterday to present her niece, Miss Ellen Beale, to her friends. It was a SCIENTIFIC OPTICIANS, 1115 F st. Fitting glasses is our business. Examination and very pleasant event. The house was decked with roses, and in the tea room

St. Paul's Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew held a called meeting in the chapel last night for the purpose of hearing the report from the committee which had been appointed to secure the services of Rev. Mac I. Smith to deliver an address before the combined chapters of the brotherhood in this city and their friends on Church. Arrangements were made for the reception of Rev. Mr. Smith and for the address to be delivered. This will be the first of a series of addresses to be delivered before the brotherhood in this city, and will be under the auspices of St. Paul's Chapter. The balance of the series will be under the auspices of Christ Church Chapter, Grace Church Chapter and the Seminary Chapter in turn. It is thought and hoped that these meetings will result in great benefit to the young men of the town, not only the brotherhood men, but men at large, and a great deal of interest is being taken in the matter. The brother-hood music will be a feature of these services. A joint committee, composed of two members from each chapter, now has the matter in charge, and it will report at a later meeting. All the young men of all denominations in the city will be invited to
